One customer sited on a copper loop beyond the physical distance capacity of DSL technology was unserved. The cost of improving the loop was estimated at $10,000 or greater and the customer chose not to offer any aid-to-construction. FTC offered to install Exede satellite broadband, but the customer did not elect to subscribe. The case fell within the guidelines covering economic feasibility as prescribed by RUS and the Alabama Public Service Commission.³

Line 510

FTC complies fully with all known and properly established Service Quality Standards and Consumer Protection rules. Both internally and with the help of outside consultants, FTC periodically conducts audits of its policies and procedures and engages in routine training of all personnel in areas appropriate to their areas of responsibility regarding these issues. FTC is periodically examined by the Alabama Public Service Commission on matters related to quality of service. There have been no findings of material deficiency during the current reporting year or in any year recent thereto. Any finding of relevance, even if not material, is promptly addressed and remediated by FTC as appropriate.

FTC maintains a record of any alleged or actual violations of consumer protection rules and responds promptly to any such incidents. There are no such incidents during the reporting year.

FTC is not currently aware of any investigation or allegations of any complaints regarding consumer protection or service quality standards.

FTC is required to certify annually to the Alabama Public Service Commission regarding its compliance with APSC rules. Such certification is current.

Line 610

FTC's network architecture is fundamentally constructed in a geographical ring topology allowing redundant feeds to its various serving wire centers. This redundant architecture affords additional protection against artificial interruptions in circuitry. FTC maintains and audits its electrical grounding policies and practices in keeping with industry best practices and RUS rules at all levels of its network and outside plant facilities.

All serving wire centers are equipped with battery backup facilities and, depending on the size of the wire center, auxiliary generation facilities. FTC maintains a fleet of backup generators for deployment to those wire centers that do not economically justify self contained stand-by power facilities. FTC further maintains larger auxiliary generators for deployment to a remote site in the event of a failure of auxiliary power facilities. This essentially provides two layers of protection against a loss of the primary electrical service. All auxiliary power facilities are subject to routine periodic testing and maintenance. The last significant actual deployment of these facilities was in April of 2011 when massive tornadoes struck our service territory and the entire power grid of Northeast Alabama operated by the Tennessee Valley Authority was negatively impacted. FTC's facilities were of such a dependable nature that it hosted the local Emergency Management Agency's command center for more than half a month due to the instability of the power grid.

S2.13 Dual Party Relay Service

A. Application

For the purposes of this Section, the following definitions, rules and regulations are applicable, in addition to the definitions contained in Section 26 and to the rules and regulations contained in Section 25 of this Tariff. In the event of any conflict between the provisions of this Section and the provisions of Sections 25 and 26, then the provisions of this Section shall prevail.

B. Description of Service

Dual Party Relay permits the hearing and speech impaired users of Telecommunications Devices for the Deaf (TDD) to communicate with users of ordinary telephones. Communication takes place when a communications assistant relays conversations (voice to TDD or TDD to voice). These calls are between one party who must communicate by means of a TDD and another who communicates by means of an ordinary telephone. Messages are rated from the rate center of the calling party to the rate center of the called party. The Company is charging a $0.15 surcharge for Dual Party Relay Service, which shall be shown separately on a (C) customer's bill.

C. Definitions

Alabama Relay Center - A center located at a predetermined point outside the Company's Network, staffed with communications assistants of a predetermined carrier, which permits the hearing and speech impaired users of Telecommunications Devices for the Deaf (TDD) to communicate with users of ordinary telephones.

Bill to Third Party - A billing arrangement which permits a long distance "voice to TDD" or "TDD to voice" call to be charged to an authorized station, as determined by the Company, other than the station originating the call or the station where the call is terminated. These calls may be billed only to a third number within Alabama.

Person-To-Person Call - A MTS (Long Distance Message Telecommunications Service) class of service where the person originating the "voice to TDD" or "TDD to voice" call specifies to the communications assistant at the Alabama Relay Center a particular person to be reached. When the person originating such a call agrees to talk to anyone other than the one specified, the classification of the call remains person to person.

Station-To-Station Call - A MTS (Long Distance Message Telecommunications Service) class of service where the person originating the "voice to TDD or TDD to voice" call gives to the communications assistant at the Alabama Relay Center the telephone number of the desired station, and does not specify a particular person to be reached.

1. "Dial Station" is that Station-to-Station Service in which a call is dialed by the customer, except when an operator assists in the completion of calls between hearing and speech impaired Customers who use Telecommunications Devices for the Deaf (TDD), and users of ordinary telephones.
2. "Customer Dialed Calling Card Station" is that Station-to-Station service in which a call is dialed by the customer, except when an operator assists in the completion of calls between hearing and speech impaired Customers who use Telecommunications Devices for the Deaf (TDD), and users of ordinary telephones.

The use of this calling service limits the billing of calls through the Alabama Relay Center to an Alabama Calling Card Number.
